East Coleman Starts House Numbering

Increased interest in their community is shown by East Coleman as they begin action in a number of commendable projects.

At an executive meeting last week correspondence was read from the C.P.R. regarding a safety light for the crossing.

The letter disclosed that a safety signal light would cost in the neighborhood of $10,000 which costs would have to be borne by the C.P.R. the provincial and federal government. It was also disclosed that installation of such a light at this particular location would not be practical due to the station being so near the crossing.

The letter suggested that the matter be presented to the provincial government for its consideration. It was also pointed out that cost of maintenance would amount to approximately $300. per year.

The matter of numbering homes and streets in East Coleman was brought up and a quotation on cost of numbers for the job was presented. It was decided to go ahead with the work and order the numbers which are to be an aluminum white on black. To pay for the numbers the committee will canvass the homes and collect from the ratepayers. A map of the district and plans for numbering were received from the provincial government.

The question of garbage disposal was discussed and it was stated that a number of residents living near the Crow Nest River, passing through the central part of the Improvement district, were dumping cans and garbage in the river. The government will be requested to place signs along the river prohibiting the disposal of garbage in the river.

The committee will also approach residents with a view to having alleys and garbage cleaned up. The possibility of organizing a means of garbage disposal was discussed and several plans are to be investigated.

New Fire Brigade Names Officers

A meeting of the East Coleman auxiliary to the Coleman volunteer fire brigade was held in Coleman and officers were elected to head the 14-man group. To spearhead the auxiliary brigade are Fire Chief Alistair McQuarrie, Assistant Fire Chief Alex Sekella and Secretary-treasurer Pete Moronuk.

The question of the brigade sending a member of the unit to attend the fire fighting training school in Lethbridge was brought up and discussed and, although it was agreed to send a member, the matter was left in abeyance until a later date.

The Coleman volunteer fire brigade (the main body) suggested that both East Coleman and Willow Drive auxiliaries send a member to the fire fighting training school.

A committee was elected to organize a raffle to raise funds for immediate expenses incurred by the brigade.

Bantams Miss In Bid For Title

(By Bill Plante)

Johnny Morris' club made a very determined effort to get the Alberta title, but were met by a more determined club from Vegreville. The Bantams dropped the opening tussle 4-3, although they had it all over the northern town. The heroes of this contest were goalie Joey Joseph and defencemen David Gentile.

Both clubs played on an even keel until the 18:35 mark of the first period when C. Siminuk broke the scoreless tie on a pass from Forzyk. Just 59 seconds later Dowhun rapped home the second marker unassisted.

In the second period Makowichuk tallied Coleman's initial marker at 2:06 on a play with Churla and Cherecky. Joseph rose to great heights during this period, blocking many sure goals. Coleman drew even with the visitors in the third when Barry Fraser roared in alone to score with a bullet drive to the corner of the net. Vegreville came back to tally twice within 8 minutes. Dowhun drew his second goal at 9:01 and little Donny Resios at 13:42. Six penalties were handed out 4 to Vegreville and 3 to Coleman.

The second contest was the crucial game for Coleman, but sloppy clearing and the lack of back-checking blew the game 8-1. A four goal outburst in the final stanza gave Vegreville the provincial crown. Joseph stood out for the local crew preventing the champs from doubling the score.

Vegreville seemed to go all out at the start, and as the result of Coleman's poor clearing, D. Morak notched Vegreville's first goal. This lead was short lived however, as Churla banged one home on a play with Fraser.

G. Siminuk scored the only goal of the second, Vegreville breaking out in the third with three sharp counters in the first five minutes, and closed the tussle with another. Tomys, Kasin, Ferguson and Dowhun marked up the Vegreville goals. Coleman proved the innocent club again as they were penalized twice to Vegreville's five times.

These Coleman boys went to the provincial finals in their first bid for the title. Johnny Morris, with the assistance of Bill Fraser, did a good job with the boys. To them, all I say is "Good job fellows", and I am sure the people of Coleman will say the same.

Plan Coleman Night

A Coleman night at the Calgary Ball Park is contemplated by the Calgary Stampede's Professional Baseball club according to word received from the club's business manager Walter J. Brock. More details will be received from Mr. Brock as plans progress.

This plan will highlight the Alberta communities and aid the club's plans to gather moral support of the entire southern section of the province. It is the club's desire that they be considered as representing the south not only the city of Calgary.

83 Dogs Inoculated

Rabies vaccination for dogs was conducted at the local forestry station on Thursday afternoon, when 83 dogs received the serum. Dr. C. W. Smith, V.S. of Pincher Creek, held the clinic assisted by W. E. Cleland, John Lynch-Stamton, and Ranger J. Elliott.

Dogs receiving the vaccination were registered and the owner given a certificate indicating the dog's color, breed and name. The general appearance of the forestry station around two o'clock that afternoon with dogs of every breed, size and color made one wonder as to the statement heard around town that half the dogs have no owner.

PLAN MEMORIAL OF FRANK SLIDE

Blairmore Board of Trade, Blairmore and Frank town councils and the Blairmore Lions met recently to discuss plans for a commemorative service to be held in conjunction with the Frank Slide's 50th Anniversary in April.

Plans call for a clean up of the area, erection of a cement wall around the graves and graveside services. Old timers residing there at the time of the slide will be invited back for the services.

Other prominent members expected to be in attendance are Mr. W.J. Edgar of Innisfail, Provincial President; Mr. J. Harper-Prowse, M.L.A., Provincial Leader and Miss Una Maclean, President of Alberta Young Liberals.

There is spirited interest in the convention as several prominent names are expected to be offered as candidates.

Cash Prize For Naming Show

The committee in charge of arranging for the talent show of the Back Home Week have held a couple of meetings and report good progress.

It has been decided to centre the theme of the show around the changing life in Coleman during the past 60 years.

Chairman P. A. Dickieson announced last week that a cash award of $5 will be paid for a suitable name for the show.

Alter Representation On Hospital Board

The Board of Directors of the C.N.P. Hospital have requested the Minister of Health to reallocate the number of board members by increasing it to six members in place of the present five. This action was taken after consideration of the population and requisition in each area of the Improvement District.

Slogan Contest Has 700 Entries

Young citizens of Coleman have enthusiastically entered approximately eight hundred slogans in the Slogan Contest sponsored by the local Board of Trade.

Deadline for entries was March 31st, and now the judges are going to have a very difficult time in making a final selection of three lucky winners. First, second and third prizes are cash awards of $10.00, $7.50 and $5.00 respectively.

The school students have done a fine job too in handing in names and addresses of former local residents. So that no one will be overlooked, the co-operation of the entire public is earnestly requested in submitting these and addresses of any former Colemanites.

Invitations carrying the winning slogans will be mailed to all the corners of the earth, asking all who have called Coleman their home at any time to return again for July 1st to 5th Home Week to celebrate Coleman's Fiftieth Anniversary.

Arbitrators Named For Hotel Dispute

Robert Oakes and Mayor W. L. Gray of Blairmore, and A. J. Cullen of Lethbridge, have been appointed by the provincial government as a board of arbitration in a dispute between hotelmen and employees throughout the Crow's Nest Pass. Mr. Oakes is board chairman.

Application for the board was made by Local Union No. 308 of Hotel & Restaurant Employees. Employers involved are the operators of the Greenhill and Cosmopolitan hotels at Blairmore, the Grand Union Empire and Coleman hotels at Coleman, the Bellevue Inn at Bellevue and the Frank Hotel at Frank.

Andrew Zur Dies

Andrew Zur, 62 a blacksmith employed at the International mine of Coleman Collieries, was found dead by his son-in-law, Wm. Kalkin, Tuesday afternoon about 8:15.

The late Mr. Zur had been in failing health.

He is survived by his wife Nellie at Coleman, two sons, Walter in Calgary, and Joseph in Coleman; two daughters Mrs. Mark Kalkin and Mrs. Victoria Chupka, both of Coleman.

EAST COLEMAN BRIDGE

The Department of Highways crew started repairs to the East Coleman bridge last week. Timbering under the bridge will be replaced, giving greater strength and added safety.

Traffic across the river is being detoured during the work, by means of a temporary structure near M. Dunford's residence.

It was felt that the one additional member would equalize the representation in the local I. D. on the board to the satisfaction of all concerned.

V. J. Horesji, secretary has returned from Edmonton having been delegated to arrange the reallocation with the Department of Health officials announced that the improvement has been divided into 3 wards; Bellevue east and north of the river; Hillcrest east and south of the river; and all the area outside of the limits of the town of Coleman north and west of the boundary L.L. D. and east of the limits of the town of Blairmore. This division will now provide representation on the hospital board.

Mr. Horesji further stated that attention is directed to all electors that they can now vote only in their respective wards and elect one member.

Nominations are scheduled for April 6th and election if necessary will be April 20.

The other three members represent the incorporated areas of Coleman, Blairmore and Frank.

ANNIVERSARY ACTIVITIES

Some discussion has been heard around town that the churches should have a more active part in the Back Home Week celebrations. The fact is that the Board of Trade included the Sunday in their celebration just for that reason. The part that the churches will play could be handled by the various churches who most likely are at this time preparing for the event. One suggestion has been that all denominations endeavor to have as many former ministers return here as possible for the event. We imagine this would meet with the favor of most people.

The Slogan Contest received a shot in the arm last week through the efforts of a young lady who wishes to see her home town's celebration go over with success. While the children seemed slow in getting their entries in Miss Myrtle Johnston with the co-operation of Principal Allen, visited all students in her classes calling for ideas. It is reported that this effort resulted in hundreds of slogans received.

We heard some discussion about the hopes that a soap box derby would be held for the kids. Feeling that Coleman was endowed with the hills necessary for such an event, and agreeing that something should be held for the young fry exclusively, we contacted the man that has built soap box autos, George Derbyshire. Derby seemed to have all the answers even to giving us the length of run that a certain hill provides, and information that he has the plans for the auto that won the American championship. This is a project that some organization might well sponsor and supervise. The kids will look after their own cars.

The first section of the Journal's anniversary issue has already been printed and your editor would at this time thank all those who have helped so much. It is gratifying to have people you never knew before bring in complete stories with pictures included.

Give generously when the Red Cross canvasser calls at your door — Remember that sooner or later, the Red Cross will touch the lives of every one of us with its services.

Saving The Majestic Whooper From Extinction

According to some naturalists it is "just a matter of time" until there will be no more Whooping Cranes to grace the skies of North America. Yet, it was only a comparatively short time ago that these beautiful, large birds flew in great numbers, unmolested between their summer and winter homes. Now the chances of seeing one on the wing are extremely small.

Naturalists are greatly concerned over this situation, not only because this one particular species of bird is on the very brink of extinction, but primarily because the same tragedy might well, one by one, overtake other forms of wildlife. It has in the past—an example being the Buffalo which used to roam our western plains in great herds.

The sad part of the whole story is that nearly all forms of wildlife which have now, with the exception of museum exhibits, virtually been

Even though a mated pair had a maximum of three eggs in their nest, it was very uncommon for all to hatch, and more often only one bird, which used to roam our western plains in great herds.

IN SASKATCHEWAN New Grasses Added To Forage Crop Demonstrations

REGINA.—Three new grasses will be added this year to the forage crop demonstrations of the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture. The demonstrations are conducted by Agricultural Representatives with the assistance of the Plant Industry Branch, this year will include pasture as well as hay demonstrations.

The director of the Plant Industry Branch, R. E. McKenzie, said three grasses recommended for the first time last year for use in Saskatchewan, will be given their first widespread practical tests in the demonstrations. The grasses are intermediate wheat grass, tall wheat grass, and Russian wild rye.

Intermediate wheat grass is a fairly long-lived perennial with creeping roots which has a high yield. Tall wheat grass is also a fairly long-lived perennial with high yield, but is not creeping and requires a heavy bottom growth of leaves. Russian wild rye is a long-lived perennial which is not creeping. It is recommended for pasture rather than hay crops because of a heavy bottom growth of leaves. Russian wild rye will be used only in pasture demonstrations.

Seed for up to four demonstrations each for hay and pasture will be supplied to each Agricultural Representative district. Of three plots in each hay demonstration, one will be seeded to grass alone. The others will be seeded to a grass-legume mixture.

Material will also be made available to each Agricultural Representative district for fertilizer demonstrations on hay and pasture projects, pasture improvement with chemicals, hay or pasture demonstrations on low-lying or alkali areas, and soil improvement demonstrations using alfalfa or sweet clover.

Farmers who wish to have one of these demonstration projects located on their land, should contact their Agricultural Representative as soon as possible.

McBride, B.C., Residents Build Own Airport

McBRIDE, B.C.—Residents of this central British Columbia town and district have built their own airport. To keep in step with B.C. growth. Full use of the airport is expected soon. Only single-engine craft have used it so far, but it is said to be capable of accommodating twin-engine planes and future expansion is anticipated.

The present runway is 1,800 feet long and 200 feet wide. The story of the airport is one of co-operation and contribution—$15,000 donated by district residents and industry; heavy equipment loaned by logging companies; fuel donated by oil companies and labor volunteered by almost everyone.

The strip was laid on land donated by a resident, Adolph Jack, and the construction campaign was laid by D. A. Aker.

McBride has a population of approximately 500.

Forgotten Cheques Total $5,052,000

OTTAWA.—The Income Tax Division has $5,052,000 in unclaimed cheques to deliver to the proper people, Michael Star (P.C.—Ontario) was informed recently in a Government reply.

It showed that unclaimed cheques dating back over the last few years and now in the possession of various departments of Government are worth roughly $5,430,000 with the great bulk of that consisting of cheques in the hands of the tax division.

They presumably are tax refunds which have never been claimed.

A Man Short

When a team is a man short the best plan is to have the fastest and best checking players forecheck aggressively with the checkers coming back fast to cover the wings if they are beaten. If the opposition play a shooting-in game, assign your fastest wing to the job of coming back well ahead of his check, who is picked up about at centre ice. He should skate a little ahead of his man until he sees the puck-carrier start to shoot, then he should burst in hard to get the puck and clear it.

The wings should always try to force the attacking team to carry the puck up the centre lane so that it cannot be carried in at the side and thus force the defence pair to spread. If the puck is carried up the side, the checker should force the puck-carrier close to the boards.

Once the puck-carrier has crossed his own blue line, the checker should not try to check him head on, but should take the inside position and check him from the side. The attacker in the centre should be left to the defence and the other man covered by the other wing.

Another way to use up valuable time is to rag the puck by trying only to keep possession and not to advance the puck up the ice. This should only be attempted in the middle ice area. If the coach has a particularly skillful stickhandler on his squad, he should put him on the ice and instruct the other players to keep feeding the puck to him.

Finally, the wise coach will give his players plenty of practice in the one man short situation so that they will develop a definite sense of their duties and learn by experience the best tactics to use.

Table Tennis Tip

Most beginners have a tendency to hit their service too high. This is caused by hitting down on the ball too much. To avoid this, hit the ball with a forward motion with your racket almost vertical to the table. With your left hand, toss the ball about six inches above the table (making certain that you are behind the table about one yard). Then, much the same as the topspin forehand stroke, bring your arm through and around. Try this slowly at first and as you get used to it you will find your services gain speed and you will soon be able to hit the ball quite hard. And above all, try to hit your service as deep into your opponent's territory as possible.

After Activity Aid

To replace the energy fuel (carbohydrates) you have used in your activity you should be sure to take in a good supply of foods high in carbohydrates. The best are honey, oranges (lots of dextrose—an ideal energy fuel), grapes, and dried fruits. An ideal recovery beverage is a large glass of Ovaltine (which is high in carbohydrates) and honey.

Weekly Tip

BUTTONHOLES

Buttonholes that will outwear the ordinary buttonhole many times are made by basting a strip of cloth on the underside of the hem, then cutting through both the strip and the hem. Cut away the surplus strip.

On The Side : E. V. Durling

As I have frequently said, very few present-day baseball fans have much of a knowledge of the game. It is amazing the number of diamond enthusiasts considering themselves well informed who are unable to answer these two simple questions. 1. How can a batter drive in three runs without hitting a fair ball? 2. How can a batter have 10 pitches served to him, none of them fouls, and still be at bat?

Short and Sweet

It was the philosopher Nietzsche who said, "Two things are wanted by the true man: Danger and play. Therefore, he seeketh woman as the most dangerous toy." In Manhattan there is a barber shop which specializes in haircutting. The sign on the establishment reads, "No shaves. No tonic. No shins. No manicures. No tips. No conversation." The younger the mother, the better the chance that the first child will be a boy, so the records indicate. Mothers between 15 and 19 have the highest percentage of male children.

Briefly Speaking

It is well to keep in mind that the Bible does not say, "Money is the root of all evil," but that "the love of money is the root of all evil." That baseball hall of fame is a ridiculous proposition. It is beyond me how any team can be rightly called a "baseball hall of fame" and ignore such diamond immortals as Chief Bender, Rube Marquard, Joe DiMaggio, Hank Gowdy and "Fats" Marvelli. Film actresses with beautiful legs are plentiful. Those with beautiful hands are scarce. Rita Hayworth is one of the few cinema stars having well-shaped hands.

For the Egg Connoisseur

Those who ask to have their fried eggs "turned over" have extremely poor taste and don't deserve to eat eggs. "Turny side up" for fried eggs, and four minutes' boiling for boiled eggs. That's the way the discerning egg consumer with a cultured taste orders them. However, the low in taste as to the consuming of eggs is the poached egg on corner beef hash. It ruins both the egg and the hash. There should be a law against it.

High Standard

Queries from clients. Q. What are said to be the "four attributes of a lady?" A. Sincerity, simplicity, sympathy and serenity.

Problem for Puzzle Experts

Following is a problem a reader challenges me to solve: "My husband's age is represented by the figures of my own age reversed. He is my senior and the difference between our ages is 1/11 of their sum."

Expectant Mothers

An expectant mother should not smoke more than five cigarettes a day. An excess of that will have a bad influence on the expected child's nervous system and possibly make it subject to an excessive amount of colds and respiratory illness. Such is the claim of experts on the subject.

Still Going Strong

It is claimed the high-salaried period of the average film star is generally brief, but quite a few cinema luminaries continue to collect fancy pay cheques for lengthy periods. As for examples, the 10 best box-office attractions among film stars of 10 years ago are all still going strong. Listed as the 10 best film box-office stars of 1942 were: 1. Abbott and Costello, 2. Clark Gable, 3. Cary Cooper, 4. Mickey Rooney, 5. Bob Hope, 6. James Cagney, 7. Gene Autry, 8. Betty Grable, 9. Greer Garson, 10. Spencer Tracy.

Canadians Lead As World Travellers

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—Canadians are way out front, as world travellers, a U.N. report shows. The U.N. statistical yearbook for 1952 says 2,548,190 of Canada's 14,000,429 citizens travelled abroad in 1950. That's about one in five compared with one in 39 Americans.

All but 100,000 of the Canadian travellers went to the U.S. The figure for the U.S. was 5,012,906 out of 150,897,361.

Canada and the U.S. are each other's best tourist customers. Americans who went to Canada in 1950 totalled 3,631,579. Canadians who went to the U.S. totalled 2,468,039. 1950 is the last year for which the U.N. had figures.

The same chart showed that Italy is far and away the favorite country of the world's tourists with 4,839,276 persons visiting that land of art and history.

CARDSTON, Alta. — A princess from the Polyesian Islands has come to this southern Alberta town to make her home.

Vera Love was born and raised on the Cook Islands, where her mother, Queen Te Kau, was ruler of Rarotonga Island. Her father, Lt.-Col. Love of the New Zealand Army, was killed in the Second World War.

Princess Vera Love is a convert to the Mormon Church and is to be married to Gilbert Lowry, a Mormon missionary just back from the South Seas.

She finds the Alberta climate an extreme change from the 100-degree heat she left. But she says she thinks she'll like her new country.

Garden Notes

For Amateur Gardeners

KEEP IT SIMPLE

It is usually a mistake and especially so where space is limited to be too formal in planting about the house. Straight rows of flowers, shrubs and trees look stiff and artificial. Flowers particularly will make a better show if arranged in clumps with the smaller sorts in front and the larger ones grouped to the rear. The same is true of shrubbery. Unless the grounds are very large, one should be content with only one or two trees. The main idea is to screen a bit of the house and the fences here and there but not to hide the line completely. With shrubbery and trees it is important to remember the full size at maturity and allow plenty of room. Big things planted close to walls will have no room to develop properly.

THE LAWN

There are only a few fundamentals to bear in mind, in the handling of a lawn. The first of these is good quality seed especially prepared for lawns, not just some cheap, coarse grass which will soon become ragged. The second point is to realize that grass is a plant and needs food and care just the same as a flower or a vegetable. Grasses thrive best in cool damp weather; therefore it is most important that the ground be prepared and the seed sown as soon as possible in the spring, and in any case before the really hot weather commences. If this is not possible one should wait until early fall. Because lawns are permanent, it is much easier to get the soil well worked, fine and level before seeding than afterwards. For obvious reasons the seed should be sown on a day when there is no wind and it is best to go over the plot twice, broadcasting one way, then the other. Because the plants are tender at first, especially so, it is advisable to cut with a very sharp mower and well rotted manure, and chemical fertilizers rich in nitrogen are recommended for lawns and also an occasional application of bone meal. Well fed grass will crowd out most weeds. The rest can be handled with some of the new 2-4-D chemical sprays.

TO SAVE TIME

One of the quickest ways to produce flowers and vegetables is to use started plants. These can go outside almost as soon as it is safe to sow seeds. If handled carefully one can have flowers and new vegetables at least two weeks ahead of usual in this way. Another trick is to sow some seed of each packet a week or two before the normal time and then protect the young seedlings with paper caps, panes of glass or upturned flower pots until the weather really turns warm. Some people start a bit of melons, squash or even corn in a berry box indoors, then plant box and all outside without disturbing roots.

SPREAD THEM OUT

It is a mistake to plant all the vegetable seed in one afternoon. Far more satisfaction will result and much larger total yields as well as finer quality, where each packet is roughly divided into three parts. The first and smallest of these parts is sown in the early side and if they come through without serious frost we have some extra early vegetables. The second or main sowing goes in at the regular time, then from a fortnight to three weeks later we make the last sowing. With some quick maturing things like beans, carrots and beets, one can make even more sowings at intervals of a fortnight. In the warmer sections of the country it is possible to go right on planting most vegetables up to early July. By spreading out in this way we not only get a continuous supply of vegetables but we get that supply right at its best quality. To extend the season still further experts adopt the practice of sowing two or three different types of the main vegetable, an early maturing sort, a medium one and a late one. This is a particularly sound policy with such things as garden peas and corn, as the former must go in fairly early to get a start during the cool weather and the latter is not safe much before danger from the last frost is over.

GENERAL CANCER FACTS

Cancer can strike anyone. No one is immune.
No age is free from cancer. It can affect children as well as men and women.

Time is important since cancer is an uncontrolled growth of cells. While the growth is still local — limited to one area — it can usually be removed or destroyed. If it is not detected and treated, it will spread.

Cancer's 7 danger signals are.

1. Any sore that does not heal.
2. A lump or thickening, in the breast or elsewhere.
3. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
4. Any change in a wart or mole.
5. Persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
6. Persistent hoarseness or cough.
7. Any change in normal bowel habits.

THE COUSIN'S STORYA History Of The Crows Nest Pass Area*

Because its mine at Coal Creek was already developed, Fernie was the first settlement to spring to life when the railway arrived, and in a very short time the low log huts of 1897 became known as "Old Town". A map will show that apart from the C.P.R. six square mile grant and two government blocks of 5000 and 45000 acres, all the coal measures from Elko northward up the Elk valley for about 60 miles and through the Crows Nest Pass to the Alberta boundary, belonged to the Crows Nest Pass Coal Co. This fact had an important bearing on the nature of the communities which sprung up in the area. The company obviously intended that all commercial activities of the B.C. zone were to centre on Fernie, which was located on a wide flat along the Elk River. There were no coal mines near it and except for the period when coke was manufactured there, Fernie has never had the appearance of a mining camp. The mines were at Coal Creek, 6 miles east; at Morrissey 7 miles south and at Michel 25 miles north east, and were to have been linked by the Morrissey-Fernie and Michel Railway. Apparently there was some connection between the granting of land and the building of railways. The M.F. and M.R. is now only four miles long and is claimed to be worlds smallest, completely equipped railroad. At first, therefore, Fernie was the Crows Nest Pass and many of the original settlers of the other pass towns came directly to Fernie and from there moved to the other places as they opened up.

A dance followed with Frank Oliva's orchestra supplying the music. The following were presented with their 15-year buttons, J. M. Chalmers, M. Cornett, H. Parkinson, J. Holyk and W. E. Read.

Pictured in the role of a "cynder jockey" (fore-runner of the modern disc jockey) is Ed Manning, genial host of "Roll Back the Years" heard every Tuesday on the CBC's Trans-Canada network. Times have changed it's true, but there is still a good deal of entertainment to be found in listening to music that was popular many years ago. Manning's record collection is probably one of the most extensive private libraries in the country, with selections dating back to the earliest days of recording. By way of these old records, dance bands, opera stars, vaudeville artists and other great personalities of the past are brought to life again on "Roll Back the Years."

When the announcer says "Here's Juliette" Monday night listeners to the CBC Trans-Canada net work know that he is introducing a lovely blonde songstress from Vancouver. Juliette was just a girl of 13 when she first was heard on Canadian airwaves, since that time she has seen a lot of Canada, broadcasting for folks at home and overseas. Like many a present-day radio personality Juliette has successfully combined her professional career with that of a house wife. "Here's Juliette" is both the title of the show and the introduction of the star. Backing for vocal selections is provided by Ricky Hyslop; under his facile pen stock scores of old favorites turn up in new glamorous dress.

Complete Picture Of Forest Service

A complete picture of the Crow's Nest Pass Forestry department was outlined to the Crow's Nest Pass local of the Alberta Teachers Association recently by Mr. Norman Lind.

Mr. Lind stated that forestry in Alberta is similar to that in other provinces in that there are numerous problems in trying to sustain or improve the productivity of the forest not only in timber but in many related uses. Alberta is divided into two forest areas, the North Alberta Forest District and the Rocky Mountain Forest Reserve.

The reserve originally consisted of all mountainous area, exclusive of the national parks, from the U.S. border to a line west of High Prairie. The northern areas with waterfalls tributary to the Athabasca and the Arctic, were excluded in 1948 on the passing of the Eastern Rockies Conservation Act by the federal and provincial governments.

The act was passed to establish a more intensive control of the upper Saskatchewan River watershed and to ensure the present or increased water resource for the extensive farm irrigation and power development in the Saskatchewan basin. The act established the Eastern Rockies Conservation Board made up of a chairman, a federal representative and an Alberta representative and provided funds for capital improvements. The board members are to establish a forest policy and to advise the federal and provincial governments on the development of the mountainous area with water resources as the main concern. The board is a policy advisory group while the Alberta Forest Service is an administrative and works organization.

The reserves now consist of the Clearwater Forest with headquarters at Rocky Mountain House, the Bow River Forest with headquarters at Calgary and the Crow's Nest Forest with headquarters at Blairmore. Each is administered by a forest superintendent, a clerk, a stenographer and forest officers stationed out in the various ranger districts. All activities in the forest are controlled by these men and no alienation of land is permitted.

22,000 Acres
The Crow's Nest Reserve contains about 22,000 acres consisting of the Porcupine Hills, the Gap area and the Castlemount area, west of Beaver Mines. The southern boundary is Waterton Lakes Park and the northern boundary divide between the Bow River and the Oldman River drainages. The western boundary is the high Rocky B.C. border, while the eastern boundary is the rolling grassland of the ranching area. The ranger staff consists of six rangers and five assistants, together with 3 temporary lookout men. Activities consist of fish and game work, forest uses, improvements, fire, grazing and timber work. The fish and game work is done under local authority by game wardens. All rangers are game wardens.

At this point in the address, Mr. Lind reported the capture last week of four live cougars by Mr. Bradwell of the local office and by ranger W. C. Walton in the Gap area. Continuing, Mr. Lind said in forest uses officials have to contact with the coal companies, the timber operators, the livestock associations and individuals. Cabins are not allowed in the reserve except as being necessary for trapping or maintaining a camp for logging or mining.

There are numerous cabins about the woods and each winter it is necessary to destroy them for the protection of the trapping rights and the protection of game, the speaker said. Stock associations require corrals, pastures and cabins for the stock rider and his horse, all of which must be approved by the ranger. The coal companies have a great number of permits for roads, stripping areas, power lines and camps.

New Residences
Two bungalow style houses and one cottage are now under construction by Mr. Bradwell and the ranger staff and it is hoped that next season a crew will finish the building program and allow more time to control the fishing on closed streams and to open up more trails.

Those in the Pass area in the Civil Defence Organization will be interested to know, said Mr. Lind, that frequency modulation radio network will be linked next summer to connect with all the reserves and through relays to all the forestry personnel in Alberta. The installation is done by the radio branch but the rangers have assisted greatly with the work. Of interest to the residents here is the light shining atop the mountain south of the Crow's Nest Pass Municipal Hospital. It is in the Ironstone Look-out cabin now installed with power from Coleman.

Forest Fires
Fires have been a minor problem during the last three years thanks to the weather and to the teachers, the travellers and the fishermen. It is interesting to note that in 1961 for Alberta 85 per cent of fires were caused by people and for the Crow's Nest Reserve the percentage was 75. The fire danger is most severe in the Porcupine Hills area when the grass is dry but we are fortunate to have excellent co-operation with the ranches there as a fall fire would be disastrous to the cattle range and ranch establishments.

Grazing of cattle and sheep on the reserve during the summer contributes approximately one-third of the revenue of forests, said the speaker. Despite criticism, especially in the Pass area, grazing is a legitimate forest use which has as many unforeseen economic influences as does coal stripping.

The timber operators in this reserve are the Pincher Spruce Mill, Burnis Lumber Company, Coleman Collieries, Drain and Mickels, Bodlo and Sartoris, Blairmore Sawmills Limited and Johnson Brothers of Fort Macleod.

The timber supply south of Blairmore is not too bright and it appears there will be a considerable number of idle years between the end of the present cutting and the beginning of logging in the younger stands. While forecasting timber operations is more hazardous than forecasting the weather, a guess at continuous production is from 10 to 20 years to finish cutting the mature trees in the Castle River, the Carbondale River and Lynx Creek.

"Do not be misinformed that this will be the end of the timber supply in the south, but rather the end of the present mature timber," the speaker said.

North of Blairmore in the Dutch Creek area the situation is entirely different. No operations are in progress at present but there are approximately 350 MM of mature and over-mature timber which should be cut before it falls down, said Mr. Lind. The Alberta government and the board have withheld this large area in order to formulate a sustained yield management plan and offer the entire area in one sale. Although the outcome of this plan is not yet known it is expected that in a short time there should be extensive logging operations under way in the Gap area.

In conclusion, Mr. Lind showed a film entitled "Water on the Prairies."

HOW much have automobile insurance rates increased?

- In relation to other car costs they've gone down. Each $100 of insurance carried takes a smaller portion of the motorist's dollar than ever before.
- But cars are more expensive. You can't insure the $2,400 car of today as cheaply as the $850 car of 1939.
- So, in dollars, how much have auto rates gone up? An average of 30% for Public Liability and Property Damage. An average of 60% for full coverage.

WHAT affects the cost of automobile insurance?

- The number of accidents
- The average cost of accidents
- The costs of doing business
- The profit or loss of the insurance company

WHY have rates gone up in dollar cost?

- Because accident rates have been soaring. Today one person is killed every four hours in Canada—one person is injured every fifteen minutes—a lender is smashed every two minutes.

- Because accident costs have been soaring. A wrecked car costs two to three times as much to replace as in 1939—a damaged car costs twice as much to repair—those lenders every two minutes cost three times as much.
- Because medical and hospital costs have increased an estimated 185%. The bill for injuries is the highest in history.
- Because average Canadian earning power is up 150%. That means higher payments to settle "lost time" claims.

THEN HOW have insurance companies kept rates from going much higher?

- By cutting operating costs. Overhead is higher but operating costs per vehicle have been slashed.
- By losing money. Auto insurance companies paid out $55,000,000 in claims last year. They lost $8,300,000 doing it.

THE REMEDY

- Reduce accidents. When the accident rate goes down—unless the cost of each accident goes 'way up'—insurance rates will go down too. Competition makes that certain.

REMEMBER — The accident that doesn't happen never costs anybody a dime.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

SO LONG, MOLLY

She Always Had a Warm Smile and a Big Hug And Kiss.

By Addison H. Hallock

THERE are some things a wife just wouldn't know about. Like how a man wants her to look as smooth as other wives—a little smoother even. Maybe a guy doesn't say much, but deep down he feels it. If he catches other dames eyeing his best girl because she happens to look shabby, he—well, he doesn't like it. But you can't let on to the little lady how it is. Especially when it's your fault. You keep your mouth shut, if you're any kind of guy at all.

Molly—that's my wife—isn't the complaining kind. If her hemline is higher than the other girls' she just laughs. "This new look, I'm not the type." Remember when all the gals came out with those dark nylon? I asked her why she didn't get some. "What with?" asked Molly, and blushed. She didn't mean to let that slip out, and I knew it. I pretended not to notice. "Oh, Bill," she added quickly, "I don't like those dark colors, they depress me," and said it as though she meant it. But she wasn't fooling me. Molly holds her head as high as any of them. To look at her, you'd never know she'd brought four kids into the world, either; five, counting the one we lost in childbirth. How she keeps that swell figure of hers is beyond me. You'd think she was twenty instead of thirty-four.

A girl like Molly deserves the best. And, believe me, when I happened to look into our closet for something one night and discovered that she had only a frayed suit and a couple of dresses that had seen better days I didn't like it. Not that we were going out anywhere. I couldn't handle that part of it any better than I could clothes, what with the government grabbing a share of everything I was bringing home, and that wasn't much.

Apparently the only thing worrying Molly was me—and the kids, of course. "Bill," she'd say, "you need a new hat" or, "honestly, Bill, that suit of yours! It's falling apart. We'll have to get you a new one. After all, your job . . . And sure enough Molly arranged it so I got the hat—and the suit, too, though I'll never know how. And the kids didn't go hungry, either.

"Well, it got so that every time I looked at Molly, I'd feel lower and lower. Night after night I'd come home, and there'd be Molly in the kitchen, tired but neat as a pin. She always had a warm smile, and a big hug and kiss. And me? Sure, I was working hard—but wasn't getting tiring anywhere. I didn't have the kids on my neck all day like Molly. Same job, same salary, week after week, year after year—that was me. I couldn't manage to bring home cheap toys for the kids, let alone afford to take Molly to a movie!

But, like I say, there are some things a wife wouldn't know about. Like how he feels a failure. Like how, all of a sudden, something snaps. A man goes berserk. And, finally, he does something.

What does he do? Well, there's no predicting. One man does one thing; another something else. Maybe what he does will hurt those closest to his heart. Even if he's only trying to help. You can't blame a wife — especially a sweet, understanding wife like Molly—to know there are some things a guy will steal for, maybe even commit murder for. You can't expect a wife to know about things like that, except, maybe, after it's too late.

I've been thinking a lot lately. About Molly and me, and the kids. A wonderful wife, Molly. And kids a father can be proud of. Yes, I've been thinking. I've had time to think, plenty. But there isn't much left, now. Time is running out. But I still keep wondering about what might have been.

The turkey asked me a little while ago what I wanted to eat. Said I couldn't have anything I wanted tonight. But I just said I guessed I wasn't very hungry, somehow. He smiled in a sad sort of way and shook his head. Then he went away.

The turkey is coming back now. I'd recognize that about anywhere. He's been nice to me, the turkey has. But I'm still not hungry. I guess it doesn't matter. There's not much more left, now, anyway.

Funny and Otherwise

On the day the World Series was to open, an office boy approached the boss.

"Oh, come, come now," snapped the boss. "You're not going to drag out that old fable about your grandfather having passed away?"

"Oh, no, sir," responded the boy. "She's home on furlough."

Old Lady (at seashore): "Can't something be done for that ship in distress?"

Coast Guard: "It's all right, mum. We have sent a line to the crew to come ashore."

Old Lady: "Good gracious. Must they have a formal invitation in a time like this?"

"Was the doctor busy?"

"Oh, yes. He had a notice hung up in the surgery: 'Have your symptoms ready, please.'"

"I'm getting so fat that I can scarcely stoop over to lace my boots. Now doctor, what would you advise me to do for it?"

"Wear slippers."

Visitor: "I suppose they ask a lot for the rent this day?"

Hostess: "Yes, they asked Harold seven times last month."

Sally: Money isn't everything. Some things are bigger than money.

Sue: Yeah, hills.

A dignified man on the bus was bringing a pair of shoes home to his wife from the repair shop, but he hadn't been given any wrapping material.

The man opposite was interested. Finally he leaned over, tapped the dignified one on the knee and said with a knowing wink, "That's right—don't let her run around."

A minister, meditating on a deep problem, told his new housekeeper that in no circumstances were caters to be admitted—except, of course, he added, in a case of life and death. Half an hour later the woman knocked at the door.

"I thought I told you—" the minister began.

"Yes, I told him," she replied, "but he says it is a question of life and death."

So he went downstairs and found an insurance agent waiting.

The first-aid instructor was a little weary of endless questions, some not very sensible. But one woman persisted: "What should I do if I arrived home and found my husband with his head in the gas oven and all the burners turned on?"

The instructor said, quickly: "Baste him every ten minutes."

Sunny: I heard that Mr. Smith isn't welcome at the Jones' house anymore, and that it all started the night he accepted their invitation to dinner.

Honey: Yes, he wanted to show his appreciation for the dinner invitation, so he brought a gift.

Sunny: What's wrong with that?

Honey: The gift was a cookbook.

Canada's Cattle Population Up Nearly Million

OTTAWA.—Canada's cattle population jumped by nearly 1,000,000 head in a year.

The bureau of statistics reported 8,916,500 head of cattle on farms on Dec. 1 last, up from 7,936,500 on Dec. 1, 1951.

This indicated not only a bigger supply of meat but also more milk. Of the total, 3,019,000 were milk cows—cows and heifers two years old and over kept mainly for milking—up from 2,852,500 in the previous year.

The sheep and lamb population on farms also jumped during 1952, but the horse population declined.

The number of sheep and lambs increased to 1,105,000 from 1,019,400, while the number of horses dropped to 1,135,800 from 1,235,900.

BASIC FRUIT DOUGH

1½ cups bleached or soft white raisins, washed and dried
½ cup finely-cut candied citron
½ cup broken walnuts or pecans

Sauce

2 cups milk
Remove from heat and cool to lukewarm. In the meantime, measure into a small bowl ½ cup lukewarm water.
2 teaspoons granulated sugar and stir until sugar is dissolved.

Sprinkle

1 envelope Fleischmann's Fast Rising Dry Yeast
Let stand 10 minutes, THEN stir well.
Stir together three times.
4 cups once-sifted bread flour
1 tablespoon salt
4 teaspoons ground cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground nutmeg

1. Chap Suzy Loaf

Knead ½ cup well-drained cut-up maraschino cherries into one portion of the dough. Shape into a loaf and fit into a greased bread pan about 4½ by 8½ inches. Grease top. Cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in a moderate oven, 350°, about 40 minutes. Brush top of loaf with soft butter or margarine.

2. Buttercream Fruit Buns

Cream together ½ cup butter or margarine, ½ teaspoon ground orange rind, ¼ cup corn syrup and 1 cup lightly-packed brown sugar. Spread about a quarter of this mixture in a greased 8-inch square cake pan; sprinkle with ½ cup pecan halves. Roll out one portion of dough on lightly-floured board into a 9-inch square. Spread almost to the edges with remaining brown sugar mixture; roll up loosely, jelly-roll fashion, and cut into 9 slices. Place each slice, a cut side up, in prepared pan. Cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in a moderate oven, 350°, about 30 minutes. Stand pan of buns on a cake cooler for 5 minutes before turning out.

3. Frosted Fruit Buns

Cut one portion of dough into 18 equal-sized pieces. Shape each piece into a smooth round ball. Place, web apart, on a greased cookie sheet. Grease tops. Cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in a moderate oven, 350°, about 15 minutes. Immediately after baking, spread buns with a frosting made by combining 1 cup once-sifted icing sugar, 4 teaspoons milk and a few drops almond extract.
